

Statement of participation

Amanda George

has completed the free course including any mandatory tests for:

Partnerships and networks in work with young people

This 10-hour free course explored how partnerships and networks in work with young people involve a range of practices, structures and processes.

Issue date: 21 April 2018

www.open.edu/openlearn

This statement does not imply the award of credit points nor the conferment of a University Qualification.
This statement confirms that this free course and all mandatory tests were passed by the learner.
Please go to the course on OpenLearn for full details:
<http://www.open.edu/openlearn/health-sports-psychology/partnerships-and-networks-work-young-people/content-section-0>

COURSE CODE: E218_1

Partnerships and networks in work with young people

<http://www.open.edu/openlearn/health-sports-psychology/partnerships-and-networks-work-young-people/content-section-0>

Course summary

The term 'partnership' is used to describe a wide range of organisational arrangements and ways of working: from informal networking between individuals, to more formal partnership structures. In this free course, Partnerships and networks in work with young people, you will explore a range of meanings for the word 'partnership' and see that it is used to describe a range of practices, structures and processes. You will also look at some of the difficulties, as well as the potential benefits, that can come from working in partnership.

Learning outcomes

By completing this course, the learner should be able to:

- describe and discuss the principles of partnership working
- review the context and policy background that informs partnership working, particularly as it relates to practice with young people
- identify some of the benefits that can arise from partnership working, as well as the challenges it may present for practitioners
- identify ways of developing partnership working practice.

Completed study

The learner has completed the following:

Section 1

What do we mean by 'working in partnership'?

Section 2

Why work in partnership?

Section 3

How can we make partnerships work?

Section 4

Partnership working and your own practice

Section 5

Conclusion